

Jenny Shone

International Animal Communicator
Speaker, Teacher, Healer
&
Author

Jenny Shone has had a life long passion for any animal and has always communicated with them. She has been dubbed by the press as South Africa's own Dr Doolittle.

From a very young age Jenny had the ability to always know exactly what was going on in the minds of the animals around her. When asked about this she said that it was not a gift, as many people think. Everybody has the ability to telepathically communicate with animals. We are all born with this ability. As we get older we tend to form blockages preventing us from hearing the messages from the animals. It just takes time and practice to reawaken these abilities so that we can hear what the animals are saying to us.

Animals communicate in a very different way to humans. Jenny teaches people to hear them, understand them and shows us how to send them messages so that they don't get confused or misinterpret our messages. She gives you a much deeper understanding of the animal kingdom.

As Jenny says, most so-called behaviour problems in animals are just misunderstandings. If you can find out the emotional reasons behind the behaviour, you can very often correct the problem.

Just imagine being able to come home at the end of the day and ask your dogs what their day was like? Who came to visit? What they did and how they felt? It seems like stuff that fairy tales are made of but no, it is very real. Once you have connected to an animal and found out what the world looks like from their perspective, it is the most amazing feeling. Such an honour to be connecting with animals on this level.

Jenny is very much in demand both doing private consultations with domestic animals, as well as travelling to game farms and working with wild animals.

Jenny and her partner Sandy travel around the country to various game farms and other venues where they run workshops in animal telepathic communication. A percentage of every workshop is then given to an animal charity of their choice.

Jenny has written a book called Paws & Listen to the voices of the animals.

This book is all about Jenny's experiences communicating with animals. It includes exercises, meditations and lots of messages directly from certain animals.
