

'Doolittle' talks to animals

her incredible gift to help heal her 'patients'

Jenny Shone, an animal communicator and healer, with her Husky dogs. Shone uses her special ability to talk to animals and couples this with an ability to heal animals through alternative healing techniques.

Coupled with her Reiki, ESP and reflexology skills, Shone finds out what is wrong by talking to animals.
Once she knows where it hurts, she uses the natural healing power of Reiki, channeling universal energy to the source of the problem, she explains.

Besides the healing, she can also connect with animals 'on the other side,' she claims.
'Anyone can learn to communicate with animals.

'You must just open yourself to the possibility,' says Shone.
She regularly presents workshops on animal communication and healing.
